A GAME AT PROSPECT PARE.

on called balls, and the little Harvard band vard men yelled. Frothingham hit a line ball to King, who sent it to second, catching Abbott. Cook went to first on balls, and the ardor of Princeton was manifestly decreasing. Hallowell stole third and Hovey made a base hit. Trafford went out on a figure of the day for Harvard. Frothingham followed him in. Sullivan then hit a line call to centre field, and Blair by a fine throw caught Cook at home. Harvard's side was out, and the orange banners filled the air and the hills resounded with rocket cheers for Princeton. King came to the bat for Princeton and pounded the ball out to Abbott in left field. Abbott caught it, and the little hero of the Tigers was retired. Woodrock followed King, and hit the first ball that was offered. It was a fly sent to Upton, who got it on a "trap," and Woodrock was called out at first. Here a discussion arose, Harvard claiming a fair catch. This consumed ten minutes.

Upton commenced the second inning with a little hit, Drake quickly picked up the ball and sent it to first. Wiggins was disposed of at first, and Hallowell was caught out by Woodcock. For Princeton. Trenchard sent a fly to Sullivan. Payne followed with a foul first, and Hallowell was caught out by which was prettily caught by Trafford. Gunster struck out, and the Tigers retired amid silence from the crowd. Things legan to look blue for Princeton, and the most the crowd could say was. "The Tigers will brace up surely after a while."

Their hopes were propped a little in the third Inning by Gunster picking up a ground hit of Abbott's and putting the ball to first. Frothingham came up, though, and by a base hit gave the Tigers an antidote for their joy. The latter made some bold attempts to get away from first, and Drate almost caught him by a quick throw. Frothingham finally stole second. Then Cook made a hit to Drake, but was put out at first. Hovey followed suit, and the trimsons had to retire without scoring. Brooks came up and hit a three-bagger.

The stands could hardly hold the enthusitic crowds. King went to thi out at first, and Drake's fly ball was caught by Hovey.

In the sixth inning Trafford sent a grounder to Gunster, but went out at first. Sullivan struck out. Unten put up an easy fly to McKenzie. Otto led for Princeton, but was retired on a fly to cettre field. Then King came up to the hat. After two strikes had been called King sent a humming grounder past short stop and far into the outfield. The captain of the Tigers by his old-time running landed safely on third.

Woodcock then sent a line ball to short stop and retired. Two men were out and McKenzie at the bat. Wiegins did not give Mac a chance to show his skill, for he sent him to base on balls. The Tigers now thought they had a good chance to score. McKenzie, however, showed poor judgment in taking bold leads from first. He was finally caught at second and king was within three feet of the home plate. So near, and yet so far, was the plaintive murmur which came from every Princeton heart.

Wiggins began the seventh inning for Harvey detection out.

ond and king was within three feet of the home plate. 'So near, and yet so far,' was the plaintive murmur which came from every Princeton heart.

Wiggins began the seventh inning for Harvard by striking out. Hallowell followed with a stinging grounder to Brooks, who stopped it well, but made an overthrow. Abbott made a good hit to centre, sending Hallowell to third. Frothingham sacrificed, and Hallowell scored, and Abbott went to second and soon reached third. Cook then made a single to right, and Abbott scored. Hovey was put out at first, and Trafford retired on a hit to McKenzie. Trenchard was the first of the Princetons to the bat. A grounder to Hovey quickly laid him aside. Fayne made a fine single over second. Gunster followed by sending a bounding grounder to Cook, and the result was a fine double play.

Bullivan started Harvard's eighth inning. He was put out at first. Upton had three strikes, but Trenchard muffed the bail and followed his muff by a wild throw to first, and Upton got the base. Wiggin sacrificed and Upton reached second. Hallowell went out on a fly. Brooks opened for Princeton with a fine line ball between short and third. Drake sacrificed to Wiggins and Brooks got to second. Otto struck out.

King then took the stick. While all eyes were on the captain. Brooks took a bold lead off second. Wiggins threw the ball, and flovey muffed. Brooks reached third. King was sent to first on balls, and he quickly stole second. On the throw to head him off Brooks started for heme. Hovey's return, however, was too quick for him.

In the ninth inning Abbott started off with a single and then stole second. Frothingham went out on a fly to King. Trenchard then allowed the ball to go by him and Albott ran to third. Cook took first on balls. Hovey made a beautiful drive over second for a single and brought Abbott in.

Cook went to second. Trafford's fly was caught by Woodcock. Sullivan's grounder went between lirooks's legs, and Cook ran home. Upton catted to Drake and was put out at first. Princeton took th post up as good a game as with Princeton last Saturday. TIGERS FELL EASY PREY. OPENING THE CRICKET SEASON. The Morris Park Club Secured Its First Victory. EIGHT THOUSAND PERSONS SAW THEIR BASEBALL TEAM SHUT OUT.

he Cambridge Students Outplayed the Princetonians at All Points - Wiggins Kept Runners Close to the Bases - Princeton Made Desperate Attempts to Score PRINCETON, May 6.-The game to-day with Harvard was a bitter experience for Princeton, for the crimson won by a score of 7 to 0. Better weather for the game could not have been asked. The diamond though wet by a light shower this morning, had been well dried by three hours of hot sun, so that it was in perfect order. Long before 3 o'clock the stands were filled and the fences lined with eager crowds awaiting the great battle. A line of coaches also skirted the east side of the field. Fully 8,000 persons were present. Most of them were Princeton sympathizers.

At 2:55 o'clock the crimson players appear-ed. Their supporters were bunched together in a little band on the grand stand, and made their presence known frequently during the Eame Princeton's playing was a disappointment from the start. ALLEGIST. May 6.-A few years ago beseball in this section was of but little consequence. Thanks, how-ever, to the students and faculty of St. Bonaventure's

College, the pioneer institution along the Erie road, a change has come about which augurs well for the na-tional game. Last year St. Bona's boys beat clubs from St. Cantsius's College of Buffaio, Eldrid, Olean, Hor-nellaville, and Allegany. The latter team had Scheller-man in the box.

bold a lead. Their batting also was weak, and they seemed utterly unable to exhibit any of the fine fielding shown in the practise games. Harvard's playing was steady throughout, and at times brilliant. They outplayed the Tigers at every point.

The game begun at 3:05 o'clock with Harward at the bat. Drake sent Hallowell to first strained their throats to show their joy. Abbott then came up and hit to Gunster, who sent the ball to Brooks to head off Hallowell at second. Brooks missed, and again the Harvard men yelled. Frothingham hit a line ball to King, who sent it to second, eatching Ab-

Brooks shot for home. He was not quite quick enough, however, and was called out by the umbire.

Here another scrap took place. Cries of put him off" werelheard in the crowd. Nothing could be done, though, so King came to the bat and two men were out. Otto was on first. King sent out a beautiful fly to left field, but it was caught by Al-bott, and again Princeton had to go to the field with a score almost in her grasp.

The fourth inning resulted in quick work for both sides. Neither team scored. Trafford sent out a 23 to right field which was caught nicely by King. Sullivan hit a grounder to Gunster which was well picked up, and the ball beat the runner to first. Upton reached first on an error by Brooks, and there he waited until Wiggins sacrificed to Drake, and the side retired. Princeton's work in this inning was no more brilliant than Harvard's.

Woodcock reached first on an error of Sullivan's. McKenzie was sent to first on balls. Things now began to be interesting, as Woodcock took some hold leads off second. Princeton had succeeded in getting a man to third in nearly every inning, and the hope of the crowd now was that Woodcock would make his stead. He was too bold, however, and Hovey creeping up to his place caught him nappling. Trenchard then fouled out to Upton and Payne struck out.

Hickok of Yale Breaks a Hammer-throwing

PRINCETOR, May 6.—The fourth annual handicap games were held on the University grounds to-day. Although there was not a great deal of record-breaking, the entries were large and the contests sharp and interesting. There were sixteen associations represented, ten of which were collegiate. Of these Princeton had fifty-aix entries, Yale twenty-one, University of Pennsylvania thirty-five, and Rutgers seven. Hickok of Yale did phenomenal work in throwing the 16-pound hammer. He broke both the collegate and American record by Si4 inches. The two-mile bicycle race was rendered unsatisfactory by an accident on the fourth lap. W. J. Grandin of Princeton ran into G. M. Coaler of the University of Pennsylvania on the second turn.

CAMBRIDGE, May 6.—A worse day for track athleties could not have been had than to-day. It has rained for two weeks, with occasional intervals of sunshine, and so the track to day was not in its best condition. The men were not in the spirit of running, and the records made were only creditable. The one feature of the games was Bloss's broad jump of -2 feet 214 inches. This breaks the previous Harvard record by a half inch. Shead, who last saturday lowered the time in the 120-pard hardness to 16 3-5 seconds, could only cover the distance to-day in 16 3-5. Taking the games as a whole they were a decided disappointment, and do not augur wen for the games with Yale next Saturday. The sum-mary:

In the fifth inning the Harvards came to the bat with a show of confidence. Hallowell made a fine hit to right. Few thought that Payne could get it. He drove out a single. Frothingham followed with a hard hit far into the field, the only reached flist, however, but Abbott came in, registering the third run for Harvard. Frothingham stole second, and then went to third on a grounder of Cook's, the latter being retired at first. DELMAR WINS THE GAME. The New Yorker Bents Walbrodt in a French Defence.

The tenth game of the match between

Delmar and Walbrodt, which was played yesterday at the Manhattan Chess Club, resulted in a brilliant victory for the resulted in a brilliant victory for the home champion. Walbrodt played a French defence. Although the last of the game would have cost Pelmar the match, he pluckly sacrificed a team for the sake of the attack. He venture was successful; he came out with flying colors and one pawn aheat. In the fortieth move Walbrodt overlooked a palpable continuation, which at least would have secured a draw. Delmar then handled the ending with great ingenuity, achieving a well-deserved victory after a sine-born contest of 75 moves. This leaves the score: Walbrodt, 4: Helmar, 3; drawn, 3. The match will be continued to-day.

PHILADELPHIA. 4; BROOKLYN, 2.

Allen gave a shout of exuitation. The visitors won an exciting contest when it seemed that the victory would at the last moment go to blrooklyn.

Ethe Brooklyns hardly deserved to win; they put up such a miserable fielding game. The way they erred in the matter of dropped fly balls was enough to make the Jamsloa Bay wind whistie a dead march. Even Griffin was at fault in this respect, and Dailley and Kennedy also showed evidence of having what the boys term "butter lingers." Dan Fourziet a thrown ball get away from him, and the grow would have made more runs for the Philadelphians had not Kennedy struck out Capt. Allen and Weyhing. This was in the minth inning.

The visitors' fielding was superb, the only error charged against them being made by Allen in the ninth inning. Cross played a star game, and Griffin, in the very first inning, by making a great running catch of Delehanty's fly ball, robbed that player of what might have been a home run. Daly made a good pick-up of Hallman's sharp grounder in the eighth.

Kennedy pitched a good game, and with the exception of a dropped fly ball, fielded his position well. He outpitched Weyhing, who was not in his best condition, allowing hits at critical stages of the game.

The Brooklyns made three base hits in the first inning after they had disposed of three Quakers one after the other. But the hits were rendered valueless, as Griffin was caught at second, Foutz filed out to centre, and with two men on bases Daly fouled out to Clements. The latter, by the way, caught a much bester game than he did on Thursday, when his throwing to bases was away off. The first run was made in the second inning by the viettors. Boyle reached first on a dropped fly by Dalley, who had to go through the bicycle track to get near the ball. Clements secrificed, and Boyle came home when Griffin dropped Cross's fly. Thou next two runs were made in the fourth. Thompson, the history with their last run.

Two mearned runs were made by Brooklyn in the eighth. Griffin and fourz good. Hallman for bome on Richardson's single to leit. The score:

The weather was charming, and 3,240 person viewed the contest. The score: THE NEW YORKS WIN. Brooklyn Makes a Hard Fight Against Philadelphia, but Cannot Win-A Thir-ter-inning Game in Cincinnati-Many Semi-Professional and Amatour Games. The feature in the games of the National League resterday was the thirteen-inning contest at Cincinnati. The scores follow: New York, 18; Washington, 6. Philadelphia, 4; Brooklyn, 2, Baltimore, 16; Boston, 12, Cleveland, 6; Chicago, 5. Totals ..... 16 20 27 10 6 Merritt, c. Cincipnati, S: Ft. Louis. 1. At Louisville-Rain THE RECORD. NEW YORK, 78; WASHINGTON, 6. It was with considerable apprehension that CLEVELAND, O; CHICAGO, 5. 5.000 persons saw the New Yorks and Washingtons begin yesterday's game at the Polo grounds. The two discouraging defeats reseived by Ward and his men at the capital had the effect of making local cranks feel a trifle nervous, and when the big Wash-ingtonians walked out on the field spectators readily admitted that they looked like hard hitters, and there was a feel-ing of sympathy for the unfortunate New pitcher. There was one man on the field, however, who did not share in the general fright. That man was Amos Rusie, and when he stood up in the box the nervousness was all transferred to the Senatorial batsmen. For six innings Rusie kent the ball circling over the plate, and in the time consumed the Washingtons collected exactly three hits, the only good one being a smashing drive to right sentre by Sam Wise for a home run. Then Ward concluded that there was no use of working Rusie unnecessarily, and so at the beginning of the seventh inning he set young Donahue to pitching. The sluggers made but four hits off the youngster, and at the close of the game there was a general impression that possibly the butting ability of the Senators had been overestimated.

As the people had gone to the Polo grounds with the expectation of seeing some batting, the New Yorks, not desiring to disappoint their patrons, decided to do the stick work themselves. The local hitters started on Cyclone Duryea in the first inning, and ratitled his curves about the field in so lively a manner that he was glad to step out at the close of the fourth inning and permit left-handed Esper to finish the game. The curves of the latter were also hammered without intermission, and he was very weary at the end of the game. The shouts of the spectators clearly indicated that they thoroughly, enloyed the batting and that the new pitching rule met their hearty approval. the game there was a general impression that · Hawley out for interfering with play. they thoroughly enjoyed the batting and that the new pitching rule met their hearty approval.

The New Yorks rolled up runs in all but two innings, and it was more luck than anything else that they failed in the sixth and ninth. Every man on the Isam, except Russie and Donahue, made see or more hits, and Doyle and Puller codeped themselves with glory by getting four each the formors drives yielding nine bases and the latter's six bases.

A unique feature was Connor's home run in the fifth inning. When Esper began to throw left-handed curves at the plate the left-handed stickers in the New York team turned around and batted right-handed, and it was while batting right-handed that Connor drove a low line hit to the ropes in right centre. It is questionable if such a hit was ever before made.

The New Yorks gathered in two runs in the first inning. Burke led off with a single, stole specond, and got home on Sullivan's fumble of Tiernan's grounder. Tiernan reached second on Ward's sacrifice, and stole third and scored on Connor's fly to O'Rourke. In the second inning Lyona's single, Larkin's muff. Sullivan's fumble and Farreil's muff at the plate gave two more. After getting four runs on errors and sharp base running the New Yorks settled down to steady hitting. In the third, singles by Ward, Davis, and Fuller and Doyle's triple to left gave three runs, and three more were added in the fourth on doubles by Ward and Davis and Fuller's three-baser to left. In the fifth Burke was hit by a pitched bail. Tiernan and Ward hit for singles, and Conner came along with a home run.

In the seventh Mulvey's low throw to first and doubles, by Burke, and Thernan gave two runs, and the final two runs were scored in the eighth on Fuller's single and Doyle's cracking four-baser to right.

The Washingtons got a run in the first as a result of Radford being hit by a pitched ball. O'Rourke's single, and two sacrifices. In the sixth inning O'Rourke's single and Wise's good smash to right for four bases yielded two runs, and in the ninth Larkin opened with a home run. Then McGuire was hit by a pitched ball, and singles by Mulvey and Hoy gave three runs. The big crowd waited till the last man was out, and then, with a final shout of exultation, left the grounds.
